Evoland legendary edition achievement guide

Combat achievements are mainly awarded for combat subs for war, such as killing certain enemies or killing an enemy with a specific attack. You killed 100 skeletons. Location: Different, most popular in Noria MinesKill 100 skeletons. Requires an upgrade of skeleton enemy from Noria Mines (which is not misguided). Since skeletons are hard to kill with the Sword, it is advisable that you gain a bow from the holy gauja jail before you try to grind it down for this achievement. The most used location on Skeletons appears in the Noria Mines and can be recharged when the player exits and re-enters the dungeon. The largest population of the skeleton is found in the ruins of Sarudnahka (thanks to the steam user KrawlYo for correction), making it a more efficient area to get this achievement. Turtle soup You killed 10 A'tuins. Location: Different, best around AogaiKill 10 A'tuin enemies. A'tuin are huge enemies of the turtles that you encounter during a turn-based fight on the overworld map. Although they may occur in different locations, I have found that the highest concentration occurs in the desert area around Aogai. For time saving it is recommended that the player obtained Kaeris' X-Crystal spell (automatically gained when exiting Aogai with bomb upgrade). Sniper, you killed the skeleton with a bow. Location: Different, most popular in sacred grovekill skeleton with bow. The bow is obtained in the holy gauja jail and makes killing the skeletons much easier (as it appears to be unable to block the arrows with its shield). Skeletons can be found in various indoor jails, your first encounter (after acquiring loka) is at the end of the Holy Gaia jail, in the underground area where you get the first half of the Amulet.Exterminator You killed the bat with a bomb. Location: Different, most popular in Sacred Grove or Noria MinesAustrels bat with a bomb. The bomb upgrade was acquired in Aogai, after completing a short journey between different cities. The most popular location you can encounter bats, depends on whether you have returned to the Noria Mines or, after both cases, you have returned to Aogai.In, Palice su abundant – it takes a little good tajmiga i luck for the bomb to explode near the stick, or the chances of such a hundred Nazi sticks patrolling u uska passages (many of which has many i in Rudniku Noria i u Svetim gajbom). Takoyaki You killed Oktorac with a burning arrow. Location: Either Sacred Grove (the most expensive) or Forbidden Lake (easiest)Kill an octopus with a burning arrow. Octopuses are red, octopus-like enemies you first encounter in Edel Vale. The burning arrows are the result of shooting an arrow through a fire cave used to solve puzzles, such as the ones first seen in the Holy Gae. The easiest place to get this achievement, but it's on a forbidden lake - there's some Octorac wandering around the first fire pit area, which is easy to hit one with a burning Choboko Hunter You found and killed Choboko.Location: Different, random in the map of the worldKill a Choboko. Chobokos are yellow, bipedni, bird enemies that occur randomly in forest areas (turn-based combat) - they are also rare encounters, which means that you have to fight through several other enemies before one will appear. They would start to appear as random encounters after the player had completed Aogai and acquired the Bomb upgrade. Although not confirmed, there appears to be several opportunities to appear on the western part of the map, in an area accessible only by airship. They have higher-than-average health and do significantly more damage than other overhead enemies, but babamut's appeal can make short work out of them. Appendix: According to research done by The Steam User of the Snob, Chobokos must appear near or around the Hidden Meadow/Cave area — for more information on how to get there, see True Explorer achievement in The Explore of this Guide. Dodgeball You beat the boss of the Noria Mines with full health. Location: Noria MinesDefeat Dark Clink with full health. Dark Clink is the ultimate boss of the Noria Mines jail. Although it is not extremely difficult, the fight requires the player to move constantly to avoid various attacks. Dark Clink has three attacks together:Fireballs - Will randomly shoot three fireballs that deviate from the boss in a bow pattern. With a moderate distance from it, you can easily step into the gap between two fireballs to avoid attack. Summon Bats - Dark Clink will call four bats at moderate intervals - usually once after impact and once again every three to four fireball attacks that makes them. It is best to kill quickly, as you can be a shingly enough player to fail to evade other Dark Clinka attacks. When they kill them, they have a small chance to let go of Hearts.Charge - The boss will attack Clink, knocking him back if the attack connects. Moving fast enough out of the way will cause a Dark Clink charge into the wall instead, flashing it and allowing the player to attack him freely. There is no special tricks for achievement - although the fight can be repeated, so you can always return later and try again (using the pressure pad at the entrance to the boss room). Appendix: I was reminded by the Big Dawg steam user that you can afford to be struck during a fight as long as you're on the floor with full health. The bats he summons have a small chance of falling Hearts when they are killed; With enough patience, you can restore your life back to full with this method. Add-on, second: Steam user eagyl also mentions that, if you get hit, another option is to get out on the main menu and reload the game, which will re-enter you with full health. Written by ZomB Turtles / Feb 13, 2019 The grind for this achievement can be rough, and inside the guide will reduce the time by a considerable amount. As mentioned in previous guides, the fastest way 50,000 gil is to go on the diablo stage, the ruins of Sarudnahk. What no one else mentions is that it can be done more quickly in this area. First, make sure you get every piece of slot for this stage. The fewer objects fall, the more chance that gil falls. I suggest you do it at the same time as you try to collect part 2 of the amulet so that you can choose to play the map as Kaeris. Its combined attack is a large AoE that further accelerates the grind. Go on stage until you beat your boss, pick up the amulet and open the city portal. Don't go through, go back to 2. Everything but the boss will change again. Follow the path shown below to kill each pack of enemies until you reach 1. Save the point on the map, and repeat. Sometimes you can gain between 5-8k in about 7 minutes to clear the map, and run out. In this way, the same amount is multiplied in half time. You can easily get 50,000 in about 15-20 minutes. Game: Evoland Legendary edition No misable achievements (plus 63 unknown) From Evoland Wiki This article is a stub. You can help evoland Wiki by expanding it. Achievements or milestones are present throughout Evolandia and are awarded to complete various tasks. Most achievements will be earned by a normal game game, but there are a few who will require additional effort. Below you will find a complete list of achievements available in the game. Play.
